It is September now. School starts in September. Summer holidays are over. It is time to study again. We are sad that summer is over. But we are glad to meet all our classmates again. We tell stories about our holidays. Peter was at the seaside. He swam a lot. Taras swam a lot too but in the river. He was in a village near Poltava. Mariyka was in Turkey with her parents. She liked the food there very much, especially sweet cakes. Olena was in the mountains. She showed many nice pictures to us. Leonid did not go to the seaside. He stayed at home. He walked in the park, played football and had a lot of fun with his friends who also stayed at home. Our teacher listens to all our stories and tells us about her holiday too. Guess, where she was? She was at a summer school in Oxford.

Alan lives in England. He goes to school. His school is old. His grandfather was a schoolboy there. All children have a school uniform: a gray jacket and blue trousers. Girls wear blue skirts. All children also have school ties and school badges. They wear them on their jacket pockets and on their caps.

Schools in England do not have numbers. They have nice names. Alan goes to Old Oaks School. There are a lot of trees near the school. There is a good playground too. When the weather is fine, schoolchildren play there after lunch.

Lessons start at eight. Alan has four lessons before lunch. After lunch, it is time for sports and games.

Alan has no classes on Saturday and Sunday. At the weekend, his dad often takes him fishing in the river or watching a football match at the stadium.

I am Ben. I am a schoolboy. I like to study but sometimes it is hard. We are going to have a test in Math on Wednesday. I am not very happy because I am not too good at Math. I ask my friend, Nick, to help me. Nick is glad to help me to get ready for the test. He is a good friend. We meet at my house on Sunday. Of course, Sunday is our day off and we have no school on Sunday. But Nick is free on Sunday and can help me. I ask my Mum to cook a nice lunch on Sunday as we have Nick at our house.

Nick is very good at Math. He does sums fast. He plays chess well too and goes to a chess club two days a week. Nick says he can help me on Tuesday at about five too. We can meet at his house and play chess after we finish studying.

Do you like holidays? I love them! First, you can wake up late and do not hurry at all. Mum usually cooks some nice breakfast. All the family is at home. No school for me or my sister, no work for my mum and dad. If the weather is fine, we go for a walk in the park. We can also go to the cinema or visit our friends. Sometimes my grandparents come to see us. We have a nice dinner together, play board games and have a lot of fun.

It is a special holiday today. I am sleeping late. Can you hear some voices? My parents and my sister are coming into my room. They are singing: "Happy Birthday!" Yes, it is my birthday today. I am getting up fast because I want to see my presents. Look, it's a new computer game from my parents and a new album from my sister. I am happy. I am going to have a birthday party in the evening. My friends are going to come. With more presents, of course!

My sister Nina is having her birthday tomorrow. I want to make her a surprise. I shall make her a cake with chocolate. It is her favourite. Mum says she will help me. Tomorrow Nina will come home late. She has six lessons and her tennis classes after school. So, we have a lot of time. Do we have everything we need for a cake? Let us see. We have some sugar, eggs ... Oh, we have no butter. And only two small pieces of chocolate in the fridge. So I am doing shopping tomorrow morning. Let's make a shopping list: half a kilo of butter, two bars of chocolate... What else? Mum asks me to buy some sausage, cheese and ketchup. We can make pizza as well. I like pizza very much and Nina loves it. We will have a real birthday party after her classes. And on Saturday Nina will go to the cinema with her friends. After that, they are going to the café. I hope Nina will be happy.

Different countries have different weather. In some places in the North it is always cold. There is snow and ice all year round: in winter and in summer, in spring and in autumn. It may be very cold or not so cold but it is never really warm. Some animals and birds live there.

In some places in Africa, it does not rain at all for several months. Small rivers and lakes get almost dry. People and animals cannot find water. There is only hot sand everywhere. It is often windy. It is bad for people, animals and plants.

But there are places where it rains practically every day. For example, in South America. There, some places are called rainforests. It is usually warm, or even hot there, and there is a lot of water. So, big trees and different plants can easily grow there. There are a lot of birds and animals there too. They have a lot of food and are not cold.

It is interesting to travel and see these places and a lot of other countries. You can find different weather in different places.

Nick's grandparents live on a farm. It is an old farm but Nick's grandfather did a lot to make it better. The house has a new roof now. There is water and heating in the house too. The bathroom and the toilet are in the house as well. It is more comfortable to live on the farm now.

There are a lot of animals on the farm: some sheep, three cows, five pigs and two horses. Nick's grandfather uses a tractor to work in the fields. But he likes to ride a horse from time to time. Nick hopes Grandpa will teach him to ride a horse soon. There is a chicken house on the farm but Nick does not know how many hens they have.

Grandma always has fresh eggs and milk for breakfast. They make their own cheese too. And she bakes the best bread in the world. Of course, you can buy some bread in a shop but it is not so nice.

My grandparents grow a lot of fruit and vegetables. It is so good to eat them fresh. I like new potatoes and baby carrots. Soon it will be the time for the first apples and berries. Grandma will make nice cakes and jams.

You can do a lot on the farm: fish and swim in the river, walk in the forest, play with the boys from the village. Of course, I help my grandparents too. I can feed the animals and chicken and help in the garden as well. There is time for everything!

Mrs Frost's house is usually clean and tidy. Everything is in the right place. I like her kitchen best of all. No dirty plates on the table or in the sink. The cooker is always clean. In the fridge, food is on all the shelves and in good order. The cupboard is tidy as well. You can easily find what you need. Mrs Frost is a good house-keeper.

But when I came to her house yesterday, it was a big surprise for me. Everything was upside down: dirty plates and cups were on the table. Some spoons and forks were in the sink. The doors to the cupboard were open. Some packets were on the floor. A piece of sausage was there too, near the dish with milk for her cat, Thomas.

Mrs Frost opened the door and got back into the armchair. She explained that her cat went for a walk and she decided to wash up. But soon Thomas came back with three little kittens. They ran everywhere and she could not catch them. And Thomas was angry. At last, she fed the kittens and put them in a box to sleep. Thomas is near them and does not let anybody touch them. Mrs Frost is too tired to clean the room now.

My dad and mum like to travel very much. They say that they like to see new places and meet new people. They often take my brother and me with them. When we were little, they did not ask us where we wanted to go. They chose the place and the way to get there. My dad bought the tickets and my mum packed our things. My parents did not take much with them so our luggage was usually not heavy and it was not difficult to carry it.

We often travelled by train. I like it very much. You can see a lot from the window. You can sit or lie and have a rest if you wish. As a rule, we eat nice things cooked by our mum and drink tea or juice.

Dad' favourite transport is a plane. He says it is the quickest way to get from one place to another. I do not like planes very much. All you can see are clouds. But it is always interesting in the airports. I like to watch the planes and people from different parts of the world.
